

Hong Kong International Police Painting Exhibition

The International Police Association is the largest police social organization in the world. To promote friendship among police officers from different countries/regions, the International Police Association (Hong Kong Section) plans to hold the “Hong Kong International Police Painting Exhibition.” This will allow police personnel from home and abroad to showcase their artistic talents and play the role of Hong Kong as a center for cultural and artistic exchange between China and foreign countries. Through painting, it will vividly present the daily work of the police force in safeguarding political security, maintaining social stability, and ensuring public tranquility, allowing the public to better understand the police departments and the mission of the police force.
